

Blythedale Supporters Celebrate at "An Evening at 42"

More than 300 people recently gathered in downtown White Plains for "An Evening at 42", to benefit Blythedale Children's Hospital. The annual fundraiser, held on May 12, was hosted by Anthony Goncalves (chef/owner of 42) and Vasken Demirjian (Vasken Salon) and raised more than $100,000 toward the Hospital's modernization project (see cover story).

Dr. Herbert Newman, a White Plains pediatrician, was honored at the event for his more than 40 years of service to Blythedale.

Benefit co-host and 42 chef/owner Anthony Goncalves surveys the event.

Attendees enjoyed the spectacular panoramic views provided by the restaurant, which occupies the 42nd floor of the Ritz-Carlton in White Plains, as well as the culinary prowess of its renowned chef.

"We are deeply grateful to Anthony Goncalves and Vasken Demirjian for all their extremely hard work in making this event so successful," said Blythedale Board Chair John L. Furth. "Their vision for this evening, combined with the tireless efforts of the event committee, have not only raised a significant donation for our building project, but have also helped us in our efforts to raise awareness surrounding Blythedale and the many varied services we provide."

Many thanks as well to BlackRock, Inc. for sponsoring the event for the second consecutive year. ■

Benefit committee member Connie Cappelli and co-host Vasken Demirjian

Blythedale Board Chair John L. Furth, honoree Dr. Herbert Newman, and Blythedale President and CEO Larry Levine

Paul and Stefanie Feidelson, and Maxine and Jay Friedman

Blythedale Trustee and event committee member Nancy Pundyk joins Keating Hagmann (BlackRock, Inc.) and his wife, Ann.

L-R: Citadel Broadcasting Chairman and CEO Farid Suleman, Jenna Smith, Trish Shannon, and WPLJ Program Director and Morning Co-Host Scott Shannon

Students from the Hackley School in Tarrytown assisted during the event.